AUTHOR

Matthew L. Lease is a Security Specialist with the U.S. Army and graduate of the following physical security vulnerability courses; U.S. Air Force Office of Special Investigation's Advanced Security Vulnerabilities Investigations Course, U.S. Army Technical Counterintelligence Directorate's Counter-Surreptitious Entry Course, U.S. Department of State Bureau of Diplomatic Security's Lock Course, and International Association of Investigative Locksmiths' Investigative Locksmithing Introductory and Intermediate Courses. A Criminal Justice graduate of Radford University and Austin Peay State University, Mr. Lease is also a certified Locksmith and author of the Surreptitious Entry Reference Manual.

SURREPTITIOUS ENTRY REFERENCE MANUAL

The Surreptitious Entry Reference Manual (SERM) is a single document containing over 28,000 pages of information on various locking mechanisms. The purpose of the SERM is to prevent the loss of knowledge pertaining to surreptitious entry tradecraft by identifying those tactics, techniques, procedures, and equipment that have been successfully used in an operational environment. Surreptitious entry tradecraft are those tactics, techniques, procedures, and equipment employed to facilitate an entry and escape observation. Below is a screen capture of the manual.

INTRODUCTION

Probably the most common combination padlock used today is the Master Lock combination padlock. Master Lock combination padlocks are typically found securing lockers, bicycles, and gates and are used in many other security applications.

Harry E. Soref, a locksmith and inventor, and James Keith Marshall were awarded a patent for the Master Lock combination padlock on April 30, 1935.

The Master Lock combination padlock has a pressed steel case, which is press fitted and spun over the back cover, making it impractical to disassemble the lock.

The padlock has three pre-set combination wheels.

The combination for a Master Lock combination padlock may be identified by looking up the serial number, located on the back of the padlock, in this code book.

The serial number on the padlock below is 903744 and the matching combination is 26-08-22.

Serial Number	Code Book Excerpt
	903740 00-18-24
	903741 18-36-22
	903742 26-16-10
	903743 24-26-20
	903744 26-08-22
	903745 12-38-28
	903746 22-32-06
	903747 16-26-12
	903748 10-16-10
	903749 24-06-00
	903750 06-28-38
903751 25-15-25

Serial numbers may start or end with a letter in order to designate the series. However, a Master Lock combination padlock may not include the letter as part of its serial number.

To open the padlock, rotate dial right two or more turns, stopping at the first number. Next, rotate dial left one complete turn past the first number, stopping at the second number. Then, turn right to the third number and pull the shackle open.

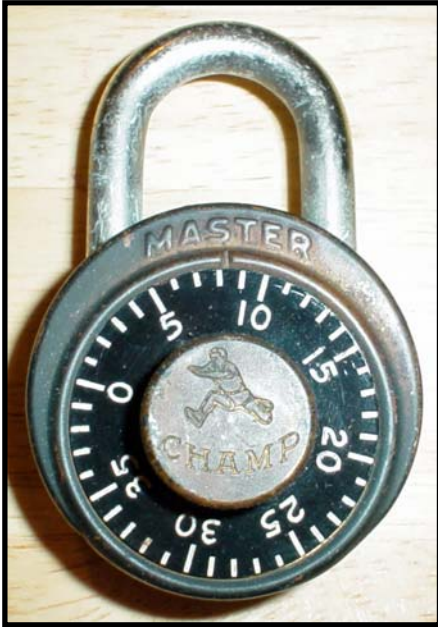

The remaining pages in this book list Master Lock combination padlock serial numbers on the left side of the column with their corresponding combinations on the right.

Serial numbers with alternate combinations are labeled in red.

A-SERIES COMBINATIONS

Pictured below is an A-series Master Lock combination "Champ" padlock - model 1500. Instead of "Master" the word "Champ" is stamped on the dial of some A-series padlocks. A-series padlocks have knurled dials to assist with turning. Knurled dials are also used with V- and X-series padlocks. The serial number for this padlock is A13825 with a matching combination of 30-04-30.

Serial Number

Champ Model 1500 - Front

Champ Model 1500 - Back

Two interesting points emerge when examining A-series serial numbers A30001-A39750. The first point is that the combinations assigned to serial numbers A30001-A39750 are identical to the combinations assigned to serial numbers B30001-B39750 in the B-series. The second point is that a repeating pattern exists in serial numbers A30001-A39750. The first serial number in this range "A30001" has an assigned combination of 38-04-22. The same combination is assigned to the following serial numbers: A31537, A33073, A34609, A36145, A37681, and A39217. The padlock's combination is recycled after every 1,536th serial number.

A30001 – start of range	→	A30001 = 38-04-22
A30001 + 1536 = A31537	→	A31537 = 38-04-22
A31537 + 1536 = A33073	→	A33073 = 38-04-22
A33073 + 1536 = A34609	→	A34609 = 38-04-22
A34609 + 1536 = A36145	→	A36145 = 38-04-22
A36145 + 1536 = A37681	→	A37681 = 38-04-22
A37681 + 1536 = A39217	→	A39217 = 38-04-22

Law Enforcement's Code Book for the Master Lock Combination Padlock

If an individual had a Master Lock combination padlock with a serial number between A30001-A39750 and did not know the combination, they could add or subtract 1,536 from the serial number until a padlock's serial number was found that could be associated with a known combination. This also applies to B-series serial numbers B30001-B40752.
